

A new building is our primary need for this campaign. Our commitment to excellence has resulted in extraordinary growth, most evident in our school enrollment. We anticipate an even larger leap in attendance at our school over the next four years and the current buildings do not have enough classrooms to fit every student. Likewise a 21st century classroom requires space for science and engineering as well as arts and space for students' social & emotional health. We need more space to truly meet the needs of all our students.

Panthers Helping Panthers is a way to support families who are on financial aid or who received emergency aid to pay tuition after undergoing a financial burden due to circumstances post Covid-19 pandemic. We value all our families and did not deny any student who wished to continue learning this school year, despite the economic effects of the global pandemic.

This year, we have seen a historic devastation as the Covid-19 pandemic shut down our economy and still requires unprecedented changes to our daily routine so as to avoid exposure. In our quest to re-open the school for in-person classes, we've made many changes to our classroom layout, bought outdoor handwashing and sanitation stations, restocked our sick rooms, replaced air filters, bought face masks and shields for all students and staff, and invested in many other necessities to ensure social distancing and reduce the likelihood of any person's exposure to the virus while on campus. These costs, while necessary for our safety, are not part of our initial budget for this year.
